

Question:

Which salah begins when the sun moves from its highest position at midday?

Question:

What is it called when the shadow of something is twice its length?

Question:

How do we know when the subh sadiq or true dawn has begun?

Question:

When does Fajr end?

Question:

Which salah begins when the twilight has disappeared?

Question:

When does Isha end?

Question:

Which salah starts at mithlayn, when the shadow of everything becomes twice its length?

Question:

What are the three forbidden times of prayer?

Question:

It is disliked to perform any salah after the fard o fajr salah until sunrise- What two other time is it disliked to pray?

Answer:
Asr

Answer:
During the time the sun is rising, during the time the sun is setting and during midday when the sun is at its peak.

Answer:
After the fard of Asr sala until sunset.
After dawn and before Fa salah, other than the two sunnah rak'ahs of Fajr.

Answer:
It ends when the sun starts to rise.

Answer:
Isha

Answer:
It ends when the subh radiq or true dawn appears.

Answer:
Zuhr

Answer:
mithlayn

Answer:
The whiteness that spreads horizontally across the horizon can be seen.